

Introduction To The Proposed Website Design Wireframe Diagram

Note: Following is a two-page Wireframe depiction of the Proposed Website Design as described in the Overview of the Lenox School Website Initiative article. Provided below is some information that will help you to better understand and navigate the Wireframe diagram.
RH

The website consists of three major sections, eleven major categories, and about 99 sub-categories. The major sections are not indicated on the diagram, but are important to understanding the organization of the website. The major categories and sub-categories are represented by the rectangular boxes.

The major categories are numbered 1 to 11 and are the general subject areas into which the website is divided. Under each major category are a number of sub-categories which provide the specific subjects to be addressed and types of items to be displayed. Occasionally, as space allows, specific items displayed within a sub-category are listed outside of and adjacent to the applicable box.

The numbers and letters displayed on the boxes throughout the diagram are an internal tracking system used to identify the location and sequence that the various items to be displayed in the different categories and sub-categories go.

Of the three major sections of the website, the first, the Introductory Section, consists of Categories 1-4 located at the top of page one. It introduces and provides an overview of the school, its founders, leaders, and symbols, while providing instructions and directories to identify and find information on people associated with the school.

The second major section of the website, the two-part Chronological Section, consists only of Category 8, which is located in the center of the diagram, stretching from a third of the way down page one to the end of page two. It addresses both the evolution of the school from thoughts of its founding, to its closure and subsequent merger; to the Lenox School Alumni Association Inc. from 1989 to today.

The third major section of the website, the Main Body Section, consists of Categories 5-7 and 9-11 located on either-side of Category 8, starting one-third of the way down page one and continuing to the bottom of the page. It addresses every facet of the school, its campus, and its experience.

~ Randy

Harris

